

BIG POTATO GAMES

P FOR PIZZA

This is a quick-thinking category game. The aim of the game is to build your giant slice of pizza by winning small triangles of pizza. To win a triangle you must be the first player to shout out a word that links the category and the letter on the facing cards. So if the letter is B and the category is TV Shows, you could shout "Baywatch!". If you're first to shout a correct answer, you win the card. Now flip a new card and go again. Each round there are three letters and three categories on the table, so you've got three chances to make a connection. But you just need to be super-quick!

WHY YOU'LL LOVE THIS GAME

- Quick, fun and deliciously simple: This is one of those super-simple games that you can pick up and play in seconds. The whole game takes 20 minutes max and you can play it as many times as you like because you'll always get different combinations of letters and categories.
- Get your brain in gear: You can't zone out when playing this game as the other players will be trying to link letters to categories as fast as they can, so if you snooze you'll lose.
- Harder to win: The game is designed so that it gets harder to win the better you do, which allows the other players to catch up and overtake. It's also perfect for mixes ages and abilities.

DID YOU KNOW?

When we were play-testing this game it didn't have a name or theme. We spent ages thinking of different themes and couldn't decide. So we ordered a pizza and some beers to help get the brain going and it suddenly occurred to us, what does EVERYONE love? Pizza!
