NATURES GUARDIAN ANGEL

At Halo, we are all about dish covers.

As sister company to Spaza Store, we have earned our reputation as 'the dish cover people'.

The beautiful prints are works of art created by up-and-coming South African artists.

Halo Dish Covers are manufactured in South Africa, guided by better business practises. We are focused on uplifting existing co-operatives and manufacturers. As we grow, we aim to create many opportunities for South African workers.

Anushka Davids
EDIBLE FLOWER RANGE

"...my grandmother used to always bring us sunflower seeds when I was young, or she would send us chocolate coated sunflower seeds in the post, it was one of my favourite memories and the sunflower in my designs symbolised the joy that it brought me."

Chelsea Gordon
UTENSILS RANGE

"My inspiration came from the utensils I usually use when baking, cooking and dining, and I decided to play with line work in my designs to give it a more simple and modern

Johanna Linde

EDIBLE FLOWER RANGE

"I chose the edible flowers, as flowers remind me of beauty and positivity. I try and see the beauty and positivity in everything around me."

Miro Van der Vloed
BEACH HOUSE RANGE

"I drew inspiration from the beautiful coral found along the South African coast. I wanted to bring awareness to the dire situation marine life faces due to over fishing, global warming and pollution of our waters."

Gabriele Jacobs
UTENSILS RANGE

"I was also inspired by a mobile that hangs in my kitchen at home, which comprises of forks which have been twisted into interesting shapes."
